One small Hole for Mycenae, One Giant Hole for Mycenae Kind

Excavation work has begun for the installation of the long awaited lift at Mycenae House. It's a modest step but significant none the less. The schedule keeps slipping but we are underway. We've stopped guessing the completion date but we'll keep you posted and we guarantee a great celebration for an Opening Party. There will be a Golden Ticket to win the first assent for at least one regular visitor.

We've always known that the rare and native Stag beetles love living in Mycenae Gardens and this year they seem to love it even more and in bigger numbers. Here are pictures taken of two new residents. One male and one female, both about 2 inches long and we named them Ringo and Yoko

Community?

Are birds part of our community?
You bet they are!!

Last week we were lucky enough to host three fledgling Blue Tits nesting in a rotten window frame at Mycenae House. This picture is the second of the three babies, just seconds from its first flight. It was amazing to see how much work both the mum and dad had to do to constantly feed them in the preceding days. The embarrassing bit is that we have rotten windows fit for birds to nest in. The house is tired and we are constantly repairing the worst of the window sills and frames. Now the birds have flown the nest we will return to replacing this sill and repairing the frames to last a few years longer

- The new Live Hedge - thanks to the efforts of the biggest group of volunteers we have hosted, we managed to plant over 1,000 whips (small hedge plants). Next Action days are Sunday June 27 & Sunday July 26
- In the Autumn we do have big plans to add a lot more plants to the Oases, so that this time next year, we should have some lovely flowers on display.
- We are working on a brand new website and we hope to be able to launch this later this year.
- We have been engaging with the Greenwich Waldorf school, to developing a stronger relationship with the pupils that we hope will be mutually beneficial. Email: friendsofmycenaegardens@gmail.com

A Summer of Fun

& Learning
for Young People & You

Mycenae House & Gardens is a great place to continue learning whilst enjoying the summer break. It may not be all academic subjects on offer but great fun to explore, be it STEM & Coding, Creativity and Design, or Parent & Baby Development and Drama & Dance classes.

It's also a great opportunity to build social skills, life skills and a sense of community with fun and new friendships .

Most sessions run at Mycenae House are produced by external organisations. Please contact them directly for booking details or from our website at www.mycenaehouse.co.uk
